Narrative

I was dispatched to 310th St. just east of 690th Ave for a single vehicle rollover accident on December 8, 2013 at approximately 3:09 am. The vehicle was reportedly on it's top; and the driver was uninjured, however, she was unable to get out of the vehicle. Fire and medical was also dispatched.

Fire personnel were able to get the driver out of the vehicle, and she was transported to Methodist Hospital by ambulance, as she was complaining of back pain.

The driver had reportedly told dispatch on the phone that she had received a text from her kids asking when she would be home. She had taken a friend home after leaving Elkhardt and had gotten turned around in an attempt to return to Johnston.

The driver advised me that she was driving approximately 37 miles per hour when her car started fish tailing. She could not provide an explanation as to why this occurred. She lost control and went into the ditch. She admitted to drinking beer at the bar in Elkhardt prior to driving, claiming she had three beers with her last being around 8:00 pm. She advised she called 911 as soon as the accident occurred.

Iowa State Patrol met with the driver at Methodist Hospital to further investigate a possible Operating While Intoxicated Offense. I was later advised that the driver was "borderline" the legal limit of intoxication on a preliminary breath test, therefore, implied consent was not invoked.

Tracks on the gravel roadway and in the ditch indicated that the driver was westbound on 310th Ave; and she curved slightly to the left, causing her to leave the roadway and continue travel in the ditch. The contours of the ditch caused her vehicle to roll onto its side and finally rest on its top. Her doors would not open due to the placement of the vehicle in the ditch. The passenger side window was broken in order to gain access to the driver and get her out of the vehicle.

Further follow up is to be completed; the investigation continues.
